We remain committed to promoting long-term stewardship at companies because we believe that it is the best way to achieve sustainable long-term returns. This informs our approach to engagement with companies on governance issues

We have been engaging with Burberry on remuneration. Current proposals for an upcoming AGM allow for discretionary one-off payments and fail to specify specific strategy targets or how they will be measured. We cannot support this and our discussions with the company are continuing

---

Further engagement with Inditex on its approach to supply chain management has been very reassuring
